The Rt. Hon Rishi Sunak MP, Chancellor of the Exchequer

Rishi Sunak became the MP for Richmond in Yorkshire in 2015. The seat had previously been held by William Hague, now Lord Hague of Richmond.

In a relatively short career, he has served the Government in a number of positions. In 2018, he was appointed as the Minister for Local Government and in 2019 was appointed the Chief Secretary to the Treasury, serving under Sajid Javid. He has served as the Chancellor of the Exchequer since 2020.

Before becoming an MP, Rishi had a background in business, having worked at a number of successful hedge funds.

He met his wife, Akshata, whilst studying in California and they have two daughters. In his spare time, he enjoys keeping fit, cricket, football and movies.
